

ABSTRACT

A draughtboard having a first and a second number of squares of different colours, and wherein the squares are 5 defined by respective removable blocks; the draughtboard can be used for playing conventional draughts, or a variation draught game wherein the blocks can be changed to alter the normal alternating square arrangement.